WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]

Washington, Nov. 11th, 1907.

President Roosevelt issued a statement on Thursday designed to show that as a general proposition the verdict rendered at the polls in the various States could not be construed as reflecting adversely upon the popularity of his administration. It has been claimed, in some quarters, that the slump in the Republican majority in New Jersey, where the Republican gubernatorial nominee pulled through by 7,200 could be attributed to the unpopularity of the President's policies, and that the same argument could be advanced with respect to Rhode Island and Maryland, while the victory of Tammany over the fusion force in New York City could be directly chargeable to the same cause. The President took exception to these contentions, which he considers are wholly erroneous and gave out a statement which may be summed up in his closing sentence. "As a whole, the showing has been an improvement over what it was four years ago and eight years ago." It seems that there is little, if any, excuse for a controversy, in view of the fact, quite generally conceded, that the election possessed no national significance, and that the administration policies were not injected as an issue into any of the contests.

The names of the Federal officeholders for the new State of Oklahoma were announced at the White House on Thursday and the announcement precipitated a whirlwind of indignation and wrath among the office seekers and their friends from Indian Territory who have spent the greater part of two weeks in Washington believing, as they express it, that there would be something like an equitable division of these six offices. Of the sixteen Territorial judges who came to Washington with their friends to present their claims for one of the new Federal judgeships, not one landed a prize. The appointees are lawyers in the two Territories. Mad but mildly expresses the state of mind of the politicians who took their departure by Thursday's afternoon trains and threats were made that the new State would be taken away from the friends of the administration.

Mr. John A. Fox, of Arkansas, special director of the National RiversandHarbors Congress, reached Washington on Wednesday, after a trip of more than 30,000 miles throughout the United States. He is here to complete certain arrangements in connection with the forthcoming convention of the organization. Among those who nave signified personally to Mr. Fox their intention of being present are Gov. Glenn, who will head a delegation of sixty from North Carolina; Governors Hoke Smith, of Georgia; Chamberlain of Oregon; Cutler of Utah; Mead of Washington; Gillett, of California; Kibby, of Arizona; and Guild, of Massachusetts. Gov. Hoke Smith is to make an address and Ambassador von Sternburg and Ambassador Jusserend will discuss waterway development in Germany and France respectively at the convention.

Sock Social.

The citizens of Emporium are respectfully invited to attend the Sock Social, to be held at Emmanuel Parish House, Thursday evening, Nov. 21st, 1907. Light refreshments will be served. The price of admission will be twice the size of the sock you wear, in pennies.

Back From the West.

Joseph Kaye, has returned from an extended visit to State of Washington, none the worse for the wreck he got into. Otherwise he enjoyed his trip.

Emporium Ladies Describe Trip to Panama.

The following letter we copy from Friendship, N. Y., Register, which was written by Mrs. Wm. Gerow, well remembered as Miss Hattie Smith, a former resident, of Emporium. Miss Ethel Day, of Emporium, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Day, accompanied the party to Panama, to remain until spring:

"We arrived in New York city between two and three hours late; went to the S. S. office and bought our tickets. We found that if we had not wired for staterooms we would not have had them, for there were only two and those were inside rooms. Our ship the "Trent" was filled, so also was the Hamburg American Liner. Prince Isle of Frederick, a German boat, and the Panama boats of nine rooms were engaged until after the 20th of this month, so you see through the kindness of Mr. VanRiper, the Panama ticket adent, we were fortunate in getting on the Royal Mail Steam Packet Line, an English boat.

"Our time in the city was short, so we improved the time as it was my cousin's first visit there. We visited some of the most interesting places. Saturday, the 5th, soon came, and we devoted the time preparing for the sailing. At four o'clock p. m., everybody abroad, the lines thrown from shore, and we were out on the briny deep. Sunday, the day of rest, was observed. The Arch Bishop of the West Indies, Mr. Ally, held service in the large dining hall, from 10:30 to 11:30 a. m. All the officers were present and a good share of the passengers. He gave a very good sermon.

"Wednesday we passed Cape Macy and traveled far enough along the line to see the entrance to Santiago Harbor. Thursday at an early hour Port Royal came in view. There we saw the buildings, and the point of Port Royal sunk into the water so deep that just the tops of the cocoanut trees were visible, and not long after we docked at the city of Kingston, and went ashore. We took in the city, which has 57,000 inhabitants. As we were entering the harbor some of the passengers called out, "See the toads." A dozen or fifteen Jamiaca negroes were there swimming, and as we came near they called out, "Please an American nickle, please Mister, an American dime." Dimes, nickles and pennies were thrown into the water, and everytime they found them. It was amusing to watch them dive, each time asking for another.

"After breakfast we started out to see the city. We had not gone far when a cabman drove up and we were glad to take the cab and see all we could, as we had the day there. We drove along the water front and saw the ruins, just a solid mass of fallen brick; large up-to-date department stores, with only a wall standing here and there. One of the strange sights we saw was the Jamaica women at work, carrying mortar in pails up ladders, picking up brick and doing the same amount of work a man would do and receiving for their labor only twenty-five cents per day. Queen Victoria's Park came next. At the entrance is the monument of her likeness and it compared well with pictures we have seen. Then we passed on to the grounds. In all the parks we have seen none were so beautiful; flowers in bloom, and such handsome foilage. Our next was a market building, covering a square or block. Here the people were buying tropical food. The only enclosure was brick arches, and iron gates thrown open on all sides; a true tropical building in a tropical land. At the Roman Church everything was a complete wreck, the interior as well as the exterior. At the Theatre Royal just the frame work of the first balcony was standing. The Government buildings were shaken but they have been rebuilt The Jewish Tabernacle came next on our trip and it was unmbered with the others a wreck. The race course is a fine place, and it is where the people fled at the time of the terrible earthquake. The people are building their new buildings mostly of concrete. The parks of Kingston are very beautiful. As we enter Hope Garden there is a large cedar tree, with its green leaves, red berries, and moss like the Florida moss, hanging from its limbs. From there the cabman took us through some of Kingston's fine roads. There we saw true nature, passing Knutsford Park, Elsmore and many others. The homes just out of the city proper makes one think of the homes one sees in the wealthy parts of our own large cities. Each one is named at its gate. We took lunch at the largest hotel in Kingston, "Constanbe Spring Hotel"

"After we left Port Royal we saw no more land until Sunday morning when the stewardess came to our door and informed us we were coming into Colon. We did not dock until nine o'clock, as we all had to see the doctor. He pronounced us all right.

"Monday morning we came to Culebra, found our quarters and to-day finds us nearly settled. We haven't our old home back, but a new house, the fourteen type house, with all new furniture.

"My cousin, Ethel Day, who accompanied us to the Isthmus, is delighted with the place and has met a number of the young people. She already understands why she did not need to bring heavy clothing to the Isthmus.

HATTIE GEROW.

DEATH'S DOINGS

MUMFORD.

Gilbert Wade Mumford, aged six months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mumford of East Emporium, died on Sunday, Nov. 10th of brain fever. He was a very bright and lovable child, and the sympathy of the community is extended to the parents in this their sad affliction. The funeral was conducted by Rev. N. E. Cleaver, pastor of the Methodist Church. "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" was sung by the ladies' quartet. The floral decorations were very pretty.

"Alone unto our Father's will
One thought hath reconciled;
That he whose love exceedeth ours,
Hath taken home his child.

Fold him, O Father, in thine arms,
And let him henceforth be
A messenger of love between
Our human hearts and Thee."

A tickling cough, from any cause, is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly harmless and safe, that Dr. Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation even to very young babies. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung-healing mountainous shrub, furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sore and sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Simply a resimous plant extract, that helps to heal aching lungs. The Spaniards call this schrub which the Doctor uses, "The Sacred Herb." Demand Dr. Shoop's. Take no other. Sold by all dealers.

The Social Swim.

The "Wieder Gestungen" Club gave a luncheon at J. B. Meisel's restaurant, last Saturday evening, after which they repaired to the home of Miss Mazie Gallagher, where a milk and water reception was tendered them—and few invited guests. All report having had a jolly good time. The favors of the evening were Teddy Bears.

***

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Logan entertained delightfully a large party of ladies and gents, last Thursday evening. Whist and elaborate refreshments were the main attractions.

Bears Are Numerous.

Bears are reported so numerous in the mountains near Sinnamahoning that it has become a common thing for the natives to have several at a time chained to trees in that neighborhood. No need of Teddy Roosevelt going to the southern jungles to hunt for bruin when this game is so plentiful up this way. The old hunters of that locality have been using a new bait composed of "onions, cabbage and peanut butter" and it has attracted the bear for miles around. It is thought that unless the use of the above bait is stopped, by spring there will not be even a chipmonk left in that part of the county, as they will eat up everything to be found.

The Peoples' President.

Our peerless country holds the palm,
For men of great renown;
In fact, in every walk of life
No greater can be found.
And while we duly honor them,
For all they represent,
There's none so dear unto our hearts
As the "Peoples' President."

The statesmanship of Washington,
The sturdiness of Grant;
With Cleveland's Independence,
And with Lincoln's gifts extant;
While with Jackson's hardy forcefulness,
The country is content,
For all these virtues are possessed
By the "Peoples' President."

Theodore Roosevelt is his name,
It is on every tongue;
And from the hearts of young and old,
His praise is daily sung;
And from the homes of rich and poor
This fervent prayer is sent,
"May God's full blessings shine on him,"
The "Peoples' President."

Dance.

There will be a dance held in the Opera House, Friday evening, Nov. 15th. Dance from 10 to 1 o'clock. Admission, 50c a couple, extra ladies 10c.

OUR CONGRESSMAN.

Two weeks from next Monday, Capt. C. F. Barclay will take his seat at Washington, D. C, as the first congressman from Cameron county, and we all feel proud of our neighbor and proud of ourselves that we can present so able a man to represent the district; in fact, quite a number of our people feel so prond of the occasion that they are going along to Washington to see Congressman Barclay sworn into office on December 2nd.

We also should insist that Mr. Barclay allow us to present his name for re-election next Spring, feeling sure that if he will allow us to do so the other counties of the district will join us in according him a unanimous nomination on the Republican ticket, and the people will elect him by a larger majority than before.

The strict attention given to the duties of the office have already made the genial Congressman more popular than ever before, in all parts of the district.

Pocket Diary.

The pocket diary issued this year by C. A. Snow & Co., Patent Attorneys of Washington, D. C., is one of the most useful and complete books of this kind we have seen. It contains besides ample space for daily memoranda and cash account, information about patents and other data of value to the business man, the mechanic and the general public. Nowhere that we know of can such a complete memorandum book be obtained for so little. Copies may be had by sending two cents to C. A. Snow & Co., Patent Attorneys, Warden Bldg., Washington, D. C.

Driftwood Odd Fellows Entertain.

Driftwood Odd Fellows, including a large number from adjoining towns, held a special meeting last Thursday evening, conferring the degrees. The Renovo Degree Team conferred the degrees in their usual pleasing manner. After the degree work an elaborate banquet was served by the ladies of the Aid Society, covers being laid for eighty-two. A few of Emporium's big eaters were present, including I. K. Hockley, C. E. Crandel, Geo. A. Walker and Guy Klees.

Thanksgiving Night Dance.

Mountaineer Hose Co., No. 1, seldom if ever calls upon our citizens to assist them but having added a number of new members invite the public to be present at their Ball to be given at opera house, Thanksgiving night, Nov. 28th. Tickets, $1 00. Null's orchestra, of Ridgway, has been engaged for the occasion. The Mountaineers will give you a pleasant time. Be sure you attend.

High School Glee Club.

Emporium High School has organized a Glee Club within themselves, composed of the following members: Elizabeth Crandell, Marian Judd, Kate Metzger, Caroline Cox, Mildred McQuay, Rachael Day, Jean McNarney, Ethel Lloyd, Mary Blumle, Margurite Metzger—Miss Laura McQuay, Director—Pianists—Harold Seger and Herbert Vogt.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. He Told the Truth.

It is not pleasant and profitable to always speak the plain truth in the columns of a newspaper. Men who have tried this heretofore have always come to grief. Only a few days ago the editor of a paper in Indiana grew tired of being called a liar, and announced that he would tell the truth in the future, and the next issue of the paper contained the following news items:

"John Bonin, the laziest merchant in town, made a trip to Bellville yesterday."

"John Coyle, our groceryman is doing a poor businss. His store is dirty and dusty. How can he do much?"

Rev. Styz preached last Sunday on 'charity.' The sermon was punk."

"Dave Sonkey died at his home in this place. The doctor gave it out as heart failure. Whiskey killed him."

"Married:—Miss Sylvan Rhodes and James Collin, last Saturday at the Baptist parsonage. The bride is a very ordinary town girl, who deesn't know any more about cooking than a jackrabbit does, and never helped her mother three days in her life. She is not a beauty by any means, and has a gait like a duck. The groom is an up-to-date loafer. He's been living on the old folks all his life, and is not worth chucks. It will be a hard life."

"The Governor of our great state, a very ordinary man, and who was elected by accident, was here yesterday. He has very few friends here now. He promised some of the voters of this precinct a 'piece of the pie,' in event of his election, but had forgotten all about it when the time to hand over the little office rolled around."

The paper no sooner reached the public than a committee was sent to the editor bearing a petition asking him to continue in the good old way, and stating that they believed him to a be a truthful, honest man.—Live Oak Democrat.

Victories of Peace.

The rank and importance of what they proved it is difficult to make laymen understand—especially those in cooler latitudes who never know the terror of yellow fever. Men of science rank it with Jenner's discovery of vaccination, and Lister's invention of aseptic surgery. But the fate of these surgeons is perfectly intelligible. Maj. Reed, broken in health, returned to the United States, and lived long enough to get an honorary degree from Harvard. A popular subscription is now being taken to build a monument to him. Dr. Lazear was a victim to his own devotion to the work; he died from yellow fever after permitting infected mosquitoes to bite him. Dr. Carrol, more fortunate, recovered from the disease following experimental inoculation, but he never knew a well day after he plunged his hand into the fatal jar. Maj. Reed's widow has a pension of $125 a month from the United States; Dr. Lazear's receives $17. There is no person, declares Collier's, who is not touched near to the depths of his capacity for admiration by the thought of these men. Their monuments should be set up for inspiration in every school throughout the land where youths are taught to become physicians.

Reports come from London every few months that St. Paul's cathedrai is settling and that its walls are cracking. A committee of architects appointed to inquire into the condition of the building when the county council planned to run a sewer within 45 feet of the southwest tower has reported and, although repairs are needed at once, the structure is in no immediate danger of collapse. It needs to be carefully watched, however. The foundations do not rest on bed-rock, and as the water has been drained from the subsoil, the earth has settled, and allowed the walls to settle also. One engineer has suggested that holes be bored in the ground about the building and that they be kept filled with water, so that the earth may be restored to its natural condition at the time when the whole district roundabout was not sealed up with pavements or covered with buildings, and the rain could percolate through the soil.

A remarkably interesting engineering operation has lately been in progress in Brooklyn, N. Y. A large brick theater building, having walls 90 feet high, has been lifted from its foundations, turned squarely round and moved 300 feet to a new site. To turn it, the exact center of the floor was ascertained, and with this as a hub a series of small steel rollers were laid on a prepared platform, and then the building, resting on steel beams, was allowed to settle down on the rollers. With jack-screws on two diagonally opposite corners pushing in opposite directions, the structure was then turned as of on a pivot. The moving of brick buildings is common, but this is said to be the largest and heaviest structure that has ever been put bodily on new foundations.

Sir Thomas Lipton will probably send another and an amended challenge for the America's Cup. If perseverance, energy and determination can work the miracles with which they are credited, then Sir Thomas ought eventually to win his coveted prize. But the same qualities are being shown in the resolution to keep the cup at home, and so far we have backed this advantage with the better yachts.

A thousand Greeks have lately gone from New England to engage in farming in Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska. Four or five days' march from the retail fruit store may take the Greeks a good many parasangs on the way to a wholesome and independent life on the soil.

The man fond of nice distinctions will now have work for some time on his hands—or, to speak more properly, on his brains—trying to give the nation the proper line to be drawn in differentiating a milksop, the newly defined species of the genus homo, from the class of mollycoddles.

NEED TWO FLEETS

PRESIDENT'S POSITION IS THE RIGHT ONE.

Little Doubt That Congress Will Fall in With the Suggestion—Protection for the Pacific Coast.

Report has it that in his message at the opening of congress the president will urge the building of several battle ships, and the naval committees of both houses will favor the scheme. Probably this is correct. The president is expected to urge this on the ground that it will be necessary to have two powerful fleets, one on the Pacific and the other on the Atlantic. As this need ought to be apparent to everybody, congress will be expected to fall in line with the president's suggestion. According to the present plans the big Atlantic fleet will be ready to start for the Pacific just about the time that congress is coming together. Two vessels of the fleet have just got under way, and are to make the trip before the rest of the squadron moves.

The present plan is for most of the fleet to return to the Atlantic after making the cruise in the big western ocean. It is safe to say, however, that several of them will be detailed for the Pacific permanently. As the president remarked in his recent St. Louis address, the Pacific coast is as much American as the Atlantic coast, and it needs the protection of the navy just as strongly. There is, indeed, more need for a powerful fleet to be kept constantly in the Pacific than in the other ocean. Trouble is much more likely to come from Japan than from any other quarter. For police purposes we need a large fleet on our western ocean border. Our coast line there is much longer than it is on the Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico.

Some Democratic papers are saying that the president's purpose in sending the fleet to the Pacific is to arouse a popular sentiment throughout the country which will compel congress, in the coming session, to provide for a substantial increase in the navy. Possibly they are correct in this surmise. The increase, however, is needed, and it ought to have been authorized last year or earlier. San Francisco, Portland and Seattle need the protection of our warships just as much as do New York, Boston and Philadelphia. The country will stand no favoritism in the distribution of the land or naval forces. The president is neither and eastern man nor a westerner. He is an American, and as an American he will ask congress to legislate for the whole country. According to some of the foreign authorities the United States stands in the second place in naval strength now, with England in the front rank. The American people want their country to retain the second place and advance seadily toward the first place. —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Why Farmers Are Protectionists.

"If there is anyone who deserves the comforts of this life, it is the farmer. When a farmer has splendid gas lights all over his fine new house, big bathroom, hot and cold running water, furnace heat, hard wood floors, fine piano, gas for cooking and even gas lights in his barn, we can't shed tears over his trodden condition. And we are glad that we can't. In addition he, of course, has rural free delivery at his door. All he needs is a trolley car and an automobile. As it is, he has more of the comforts of life than any resident of Belle Plaine. This is not an overdrawn picture. If you don't believe it we can show you, and within eight miles of Belle Plaine, too."—Belle Plaine Union.

It is this condition of things that makes the average Iowa farmer a protectionist. All of the good things that the Union speaks of have come to him through the beneficient operation of the protective tariff, which has not only afforded him better prices for his grain and produce, but has furnished him a wonderful market in which to sell. The unlimited amount of work now afforded the laboring man, and the splendid wages he is receiving, enable him to buy generously of the good things of this life, which include in large measure the products of the farm. With a scaling down of the protective schedules, the farmer would at once experience a decrease in demand for what he has to sell and a resultant falling off in profit. There are those who strenuously deny the farmer is benefited by the protective tariff, but not many of them exist among the farming classes.—Burlington Hawk-Eye.

The American Payroll.

True it is that the American payroll has no equal anywhere. Compositors, stonemasons and plumbers, on an average the country over, receive 45 cents an hour. The general average in the skilled trades is 35 cents an hour, as against 12 cents an hour in Germany and 17½ cents in Great Britain.

In the last generation, while the population has doubled, the wages paid to labor has tripled, the sums deposited in savings banks has more than quadrupled and the savings invested in life insurance have quintupled.

It is to get a place on the American payroll that immigrants are coming in at the rate of a million a year.

The American payroll means "the full dinner pail," and it means, as Mr. Cortelyou says, something more than that. It means the American school and the American home.—N. Y. Mail.

NOW UP TO THEMSELVES.

Filipinos to Settle Vexed Questions In Assembly.

It is not probable the members of the Philippine assembly or the people of the islands will be altogether satisfied with the promise of future independence given by William H. Taft, secretary of war, speaking in part for President Roosevelt. Yet there is good reason to believe that is their nearest way out. In fact, complete acquiescence in that promise and devotion to their energies to cultivation of civic virtues and orderly life will shorten the period of their dependence more than all else. Flamboyant discontent and resistance to American rule will simply prolong the present regime, to the disadvantage alike of the United States and the Philippines.

Secretary Taft's positive assurance that there is no thought of transferring the islands to any other power should have a good effect. There has been no serious question on that point in this country, however it may have been discussed by the press, but the people of the Philippines needed that information. They are thus given but one avenue of escape from the "American yoke," as they are pleased to call it, and that is to fit themselves as rapidly as they may for self-government.

Beyond these announcements, "by authority," Secretary Taft gave the members of the assembly good advice. He wisely refrained from specifying any legislative measures they ought to pass. He did suggest careful attention to their civil service and then discussed broadly the subject of good government. On the whole, the address is another proof of the diplomatic ability of the secretary of war, containing enough of positive warning to restrain an ebullient people and enough optimistic good wishes and confidence to incite friendly feeling. The task is now for the assembly, and the people of the United States will note with interest how the membership approaches its duty. It may mean the lightening or the increasing of the "white man's burden" in that quarter.

A Virginia Free Trader.

Says the Norfolk Virginia-Pilot:

"The Dingley bill does more plundering in a day than a thousand 'debatable funds' yielded in a decade. Of all schemes of robbery that by law is the most thorough and comprehensive. The pirates of Tarifa had a glimmering idea of the principle, but they did not have 80,000,000 of subjective victoms of people on whom to wreak its practice."

This is in the good old free trade key with which a few years ago the country was familiar. Protection is robbery. Cut it out, therefore. Free the people from the system—not by degrees, but immediately. Why longer tolerate an abuse so shameless and offensive? Make it go—not on any order of going, but at once.

We shall not see the Democratic party make any such pronouncement next year. A comparatively recent experience taught it a lesson it will not soon forget. Memories of 1892-3-4 are too fresh. The people recall the promises of the last Cleveland campaign, when protection was challenged to a fight to the death, and then the performance of a Democratic congress—a body which many of the protected industries dominated. There never was a more ignominious surrender. Mr. Cleveland pronounced it perfidious and dishonorable, but Mr. Gorman and others who engineered it declared that he had consented to the work.

But the record in the main and in the essentials is unchallenged and unchallengable. The Democracy won on its platform and with a candidate consenting to it, yet violated its promises. Protection was not only not destroyed, but actually coddled. The sugar trust had bought its schedule with a campaign contribution, and got the goods. The bill was a botch, but this grew out of the efforts to hunt with the hounds and hold with the hare. It was another instance of the failure of bunco—a word which Mr. Bryan has applied to the whole of Mr. Cleveland's second administration.

Secretary Root.

Mr. Root has returned from Mexico, where he was most cordially received. The fruits of his visit may not show at once, but that they will show in time and prove of great and lasting benefit to both countries is certain, says the Washington Star. As a special commissioner, so to say, the secretary of state has revealed high talents. In Central and South America he favorably impressed his hosts, and in Canada was quite as successful. And now the Mexicans have set their approval on him. Mr. Root is not a "jollier," nor anything of the typical courtier, but an unemotional man of some reserve, and of sober and unornamental phrase. Still, in Spanish and in English America he succeeds equally well. In warm and in cold countries his temperament pleases alike, and the people recognize in him one to be trusted and who has a message worth hearing.

Always Had Bryan Sized Up.

Mr. Bryan says the large metropolitan dailies are open to the highest bidder. The huge bid of an inflated currency didn't catch any of them, and the silver barons failed to get the support of a newspaper of any consequence. Mr. Bryan's charge is the result of disappointment in his attempts to foozle the press. The leading newspapers have always sized him up correctly.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE.

THE NUMBER OF COMMERCIAL FAILURES DIMINISHES.

Leading Industries are Handicapped by Lack of Funds and Working Forces are Reduced.

New York City.—R. G. Dun's Weekly Review of Trade says:

There were fewer commercial failures in the United States this week than for two weeks past, reflecting the improvement of conditions. The failures of the week numbered only 239, as against 273 last week, 252 the preceding week and 172 the corresponding week of last year. Failures in Canada also were less, the number being 19 this week as against 20 the week previous and 31 in the corresponding week of last year. Another encouraging feature of the failure report is that only 76 of this week's failures involved liabilities of $5,000 or more, as against 93 last week.

Scarcity of money, unseasonable weather and the holiday combined to make the volume of business smaller than usual this week, but the situation is more encouraging because of a general belief that the financial storm has been weathered remarkably well. About $40,000,000 in gold was secured abroad before the Bank of England raised the rate of discount, and returning confidence is witnessed by deposits of hoarded money. It will take some time to restore all this cash to circulation, but the treasury has given further relief and the banks are issuing notes freely.

Leading industries are handicapped by lack of funds, and so many contemplated undertakings have been deferred that working forces are reduced, especially at steel mills. Prices of commodities have declined still further.

ENGINEER SAVED A TOWN.

He Lost His Own Life in the Effort and a Dozen Laborers Were Killed.

Douglass, Ariz. — Jesus Garcia, a locomotive engineer, on Thursday saved Nacozari, Ariz., from destruction by running a burning powder train through the town at top speed, but lost his own life and caused the death of a dozen or more Mexican section hands, through the explosion of two cars of powder, just as the flaming train was passing a section house. John Chisholm, a boy, was also killed by the explosion.

According to details of the accident received here, a powder train on the narrow gauge railroad of the Pilares mine caught fire when near Nacozari. The train contained two open cars heavily loaded with explosives.

Realizing that the concentrator and a good part of the town of Nacozari would be destroyed if the powder exploded there, Engineer Garcia called to the rest of the crew to jump and started to run the train away from the town. He had taken it about half a mile when the explosion occurred, as the cars were passing a section house full of Mexicans. The terrific explosion blew the house, the train, the men and the engineer to atoms. Young Chisholm, not seeing the fire in the train, sought to steal a ride on the rear car. It is impossible to say just how many section men were killed.

A FAREWELL ADDRESS.

Gen. Booth, Salvation Army Leader, Delivers It Before Sailing for Europe.

New York City.—At a monster open air demonstration, in which stereopticon reproductions of various scenes connected with his life and work formed a novel feature, Gen. Booth, the founder of the Salvation Army, who is to sail to-day for Europe after what probably will be his last American "campaign," last night bade his soldiers in this country and the American people generally, farewell. Gen. Booth made his final address from the steps of the city hall. He was surrounded by hundreds of uniformed followers.

Thousands of adherents and friends of the Salvation Army, bearing flags and torches, paraded from the army headquarters in Fourteenth street through the East Side to City Hall park. When a near approach to order was secured, Gen. Booth addressed the assemblage, three megaphonists standing before him repeating his words in unison.

Copper Miners Agree to Strike.

Calumet, Mich. — Copper miners in the employ of the Calumet and Hecla Mining Co. have issued an ultimatum to the management that the employees of the company will strike next Monday until the management rescinds the wage reduction of 12½ per cent. which was recently announced would take effect December 1. About 8,000 men are involved. Because of threats of personal violence against General Manager McNaughton, of the Calumet and Hecla, Sheriff Beck is arranging for the swearing in of 500 special deputies to be available in case they are needed.

Must Pay $15,000 Fine for Rebating.

St. Paul, Minn.—The United States circuit court of appeals on Friday affirmed the judgment entered by the United States circuit court against the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad for granting rebates on lard shipped from Kansas City, Kan., to New York. The judgment was that the road be compelled to pay a fine of $15,000. The amount involved in the transaction was about $146.

Sold Brass for Gold to His Friend.

New York City. — Influenced by the present premium on the precious metal, Samuel Hirshfield entered the financial district Friday and disposed of a bag of brass filings for $1,000. The purchaser was Reuben Bitzele, who described himself as a diamond broker, and, until his awakening, a friend of Hirshfield. The latter was held in $3,000 bail.

$600,000 Fire Loss.

Duluth, Minn.—Fire last night damaged the Great Northern elevator and its contents at Superior to the extent of more than $600,000.

SOME WEAK POINTS

COMMERCIAL CLUBS SOMETIMES MAKE BLUNDERS.

STARTING NEW ENTERPRISES

Bonuses Often Given and Little Benefits Gained by the Towns That Give—Protecting Established Industries.

Within the past few years a commercial club organization fever has taken hold of many towns in the western country. It is a kind of good fever to have, but quite often, like other of the less harmless fevers that afflict physically, passes away and doesn't make much difference with the our general health.

Town-building is much like erecting a good bridge. It is essential that a good foundation be laid. Natural conditions have much to do with it. Cities and towns spring up where there is a good cause for their existence. Artificial means may be employed for "booming" purposes, but unless there be something substantial and lasting, all the booming that can be done will not result in the accomplishment of permanent good. The average rural town receives its principal support from the business given it by the contiguous territory. The trade of a limited section of country will sustain a comparative number of business establishments. If a town possesses natural advantages, location, etc., for certain lines of manufacturing, so much the better. It would be foolish, as have been demonstrated in a number of western towns, to commence the manufacture of cottons, or silks, or furniture, when the raw material must be transported from a great distance, and also the fuel for power.

Still, if a town assume any great proportions, there must be industries to give the people occupation. The judicious investment of capital in canning factories, in paper mills, in glucose works and a few other enterprises, if these enterprises are rightly conducted, might prove a valuable factor in some of the western towns.

When a commercial club is organized, generally efforts are made to secure some industry for the town that will give its people employment and which will bring new residents to the town. Quite often bonuses are offered concerns, which are located in other places to relocate. It has been the general experience of towns which have made efforts along these lines that a concern that asks very much encouragement in the way of ready cash, is hardly worth bothering with and is likely to prove a failure.

Another thing that the average commercial club does not take in consideration is that it is better to build up institutions already located than to encourage new ones of doubtful success. A manufacturing concern is only valuable to the town as a means of placing a greater amount of money in circulation. The greater the pay roll, the better for the town. But it matters not how big the amount is that is distributed among workers on a Saturday night, it results in little good to the town if it is sent to some other town for needed supplies.

Commercial club members should keep in mind that it is far better to devise means of keeping money earned by farmers and laborers from being sent to large cities for goods, than it is to have new concerns started. If there be a few hundred dollars a day sent from the place to mail-order houses, it would be far better to prevent this by devising means for having it spent in the town, than to encourage the location of a factory with a pay roll of a like amount. It should be the first duty of a commercial organization to protect its home industries, and when strangers see that this is successful they will be more likely to seek the place as suitable for the establishment of some business enterprise.

D. M. CARR.

Home Trade Idea Not New.

Day after day the people are awakening to the fact that the only way the evils of trusts can be combatted is by an adherence to the home trade doctrine. It is nothing new. It was the sentiment that prompted the founders of our government to sound the clarion of Liberty from the summit of Bunker Hill. Then, it was the forcing of a people dependent on another government to pay an unjust tribute for necessaries of life. Today it is one class of people of a nation, and the greatest nation on earth, to compel the other classes to pay unjust tribute in a commercial way. The wrong was righted by blood in the first case; the wrong can be righted in the present case by the people without resorting to serious trouble, by merely exercising their prerogatives and the means that lie in their power to prevent the concentration of great wealth in the big financial centers by keeping their surplus earnings at home. It is the draining the dollars from the country to the large cities that assist in building up the great combines, the great trusts, which are manipulated to the deteriment of the people of the country at large. It does not require special legislation for the farmer to buy flour made in his home mill; to use other products made in his county or state, or to patronize the merchants of his home town.

Value of Good Roads.

Good roads leading to a town indicate the progressiveness of the citizens of the community. Invariably poor roads mean indifference and lack of confidence in the stability of the town.

TO THE FARMER-BOY.

His Chances Are Best In His Home Town Rather Than In the Big City.

My boy, the farm is all right. Sometimes you may feel that its environs are too narrow for you, its life too much of a humdrum, and that you would prefer to be one of the residents of the big city or town. There have been hundreds and thousands of others just like you, and with just such ideas. They have started from the farm buoyant with hope, and after years have regretted their youthful resolutions. Others have succeeded; have won laurels in the professional field, in business, in statesmanship; but the few who have succeeded thus are so small in number compared to the army of failures that there is little encouragement for the careful thinker to leave that which promises security from want and independence for a life time. The farmer is surely the most independent of all workers. He is sure to receive a greater reward for his labors, is his own manager, and if he will strive diligently can aspire to a place in the public estimate that few can attain in the large towns.

Of course there are times when you think there is almost an unbearable dullness about existence on the farm. Were you a resident of the city, there would be times when you would long for the quietness and the pleasure that the farm affords. Hours of work may be long riding the plow, or harvesting the grain, but far superior is the work than that the great majority of the city youths are compelled to follow, and how much greater the compensation? How would you like to stand behind the dry-goods or grocery counter from morning to night for the small wages that the city clerk receives? Year after year the laborer lives in cheap boarding houses and rarely save sufficient to engage in business. His is a mere subsistence, and a constant struggle. The best years of life are wasted in making money for others, while the industrious farmer is working for himself, saving money year after year, and when the time for rest comes it enables him to take it.

Cities are overcrowded with clerk help. An advertisement inserted in any daily paper for a clerk to fill any position will bring hundreds of responses. The array of unemployed and those seeking to better their conditions is always large. Of late years a large element of workers from cities are looking toward the farms for employment. They realize that the farm offers more permanency of occupation and greater independence than like efforts in the city can possibly afford. Before you concentrate your attention on employment in city or town, weigh every matter well, and then act according to what reason dictates. You will be very likely to conclude that the farm is a good enough place for you, and that your own little home town is preferable to the over-crowded city. Remember that your greatest interests center in what you call your "home town." Do all you can to assist in its improvement, and make it a better business place.

D. M. CARR.

OPPOSED TO LOCAL PROGRESS.

Journals That Help to Concentrate Business in Large Cities.

There are thousands of so-called agricultural papers published in the United States, all of more or less merit. Yet few are all that they should be. There is an inconsistency about them that invites careful study. While they are supposed to represent the best interests of the great class of workers whom they gain support from in the way of subscriptions, the majority of them apparently work against the progress of farming communities by becoming the mediums, a part of the machinery, which draws from country towns the support which they should have.

It is to be regretted that many of these so-called agricultural papers are merely published for the purpose of circulating the advertisements of concerns which seek to secure trade from residents of farming districts to the detriment of the home towns. These establishments take money from the rural communities to the large financial centers. The thoughtful man or woman can see how injurious it is to the interests of the farmers to take away the surplus earnings which represent the wealth of the community. It requires but little observation and study to understand that to a great extent farm values are dependent upon the importance of the near-by town, and that any system that takes away its business, will result in a decrease of farm values Such papers as advise the farmers to patronize other than home institutions and which advocate systems that are opposed to the up-building of industries in agricultural districts are not worthy of support.

Education.

Intelligence is the distinguishing mark between the savage and civilized man. Education is one of the greatest of God's blessings, and ignorance a curse. In America there exists no valid reason why every man, woman and child of normal brain should not have an education. There is no phase of life where knowledge is not necessary. In the most progressive communities is where the superior schools are found. Help along your town and help along education in general. By affording your children a chance for a good education, you offer them riches that cannot be destroyed; it is ready cash in hand, assets that one cannot be robbed of only by act of Providence.

REPUBLICANS WIN BY BIG MAJORITIES

IN PENNSYLVANIA, MASSACHUSETTS AND NEBRASKA.

AND ALSO IN KENTUCKY.

Republican Candidate for Governor of New Jersey Won by 7,000—Democrats Defeated Fusionists in New York City.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Philadelphia, Nov. 6.—John O. Sheatz, of Philadelphia, republican, was elected state treasurer over John G. Harman, of Columbia county, democrat, at Tuesday's election in Pennsylvania by 175,000 plurality. This was the only state office voted for and a light vote was polled in nearly every county. The judicial contests in Luzerne, Northampton and Schuylkill brought out a large vote in those counties. There was virtually little interest in the contests in other counties which elected judges.

NEW YORK.

New York, Nov. 6.—Sufficiently complete returns to make certain the ultimate results show that republican and Independence league fusion in New York county was defeated Tuesday by a straight democratic ticket; that the Independence league ticket for associate justice of the court of appeals was overwhelmingly beaten by the identical tickets of the republicans and democrats and that there will be slight change in the makeup of the state assembly.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston, Nov. 7.—Politicians throughout the state were much interested Wednesday in examining the returns from the election and considering their bearing on next year's contest. The Independence league maintained its place as a political body, while the so-called anti-merger party, by polling a trifle over 3 per cent. of the total vote, also will be in the race next year to hold a convention and to place candidates on the official ballot.

The plurality by which Gov. Guild won his re-election, 104,351, is the largest given the successful candidate for governor since 1898.

VIRGINIA.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The election in Virginia was only for candidates to both branches of the legislature. The democrats will control both houses by the usual majorities.

In the Eighth congressional district C. C. Carlin, of Alexandria (dem.) was elected to succeed Congressman J. F. Rixey by an overwhelming majority.

NEW JERSEY.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 7.—Frank S. Katzenbach, jr., democratic candidate for governor of New Jersey, last night conceded the election of John Franklin Fort, his republican opponent.

The latest figures give the state to Judge Fort by about 7,000. This change was brought about by the reduced democratic majority in Hudson county. Tuesday night it was announced that Katzenbach had carried Hudson county by about 15,000. The revised figures as semi-officially computed give Katzenbach only 6,900.

KENTUCKY.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 6.—Practically complete returns from six counties exclusive of Louisville and Jefferson county, give Wilson, rep., a plurality of 1,000 over Hager, dem., for governor. This is a republican gain of 1,600 for these counties.

Later returns show that Augustus E. Willson, republican candidate for governor, and the entire republican state ticket have been elected.

RHODE ISLAND.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 6.—With 37 of the 157 voting districts in the state to be heard from, Gov. James K. Higgins, the democratic candidate for re-election, is leading his republican opponent, Lieut. Gov. Jackson, by less than 1,000 votes. There are three cities and two large towns to be heard from, and as they are known to be Higgins strongholds, it is thought that the present governor will be re-elected by a plurality of about 1,700.

MARYLAND.

Baltimore, Nov. 7.—Complete returns from this city show that it was carried by Austin L. Crothers, the democratic candidate for governor, by a plurality of 4,341.

Returns from the counties continue to straggle in, but at least a third of them were still missing late last night. From those at hand, however, it was certain that the democrats will easily control the legislature and that Crothers is elected governor.

UTAH.

Salt Lake City, Nov. 6.—Municipal candidates of the American (anti-Mormon party) probably will have the largest plurality ever given in this city. Bransford for mayor will have 7,000 to 10,000 plurality over Plummer, rep., and Morris, dem., whose strength is evenly divided.

NEBRASKA.

Omaha, Nov. 6.—That M. B. Reese, republican, has been elected justice of the supreme court by a majority of 12,000 votes is the indication from returns made unusually late because of wire trouble.

Missing Whalers are Safe.

San Francisco, Cal. — The five whaling vessels of the Pacific coast fleet which were thought to have been caught in the Arctic ice floes and for the safety of which grave fears were entertained, are safe and should arrive here shortly.

Will Issue a New Currency.

New Orleans, La.—The New Orleans Clearing House association has decided to issue asset currency in denominations of $5, $10 and $20. The notes will be received by any bank which holds membership in the association.

STEEL MILLS ARE CLOSING.

MANY PLANTS HAVE SUSPENDED OPERATIONS ENTIRELY.

Coupled with This Movement a Number of Notices of Wage Reductions Have Been Made.

New York City.—The Iron Age says: It is amazing how swiftly the iron trade is adjusting itself to the conditions created by the happenings in the money market. Plants are shutting down right and left, or are reducing output as the result of a concensus of opinion among makers that such is the soundest course. There seems no disposition to keep running full by attempting to seize the work at the sacrifice of prices, nor any desire, even where money conditions permit of it, to pile up stocks. A large number of furnaces have shut down or are about to do so, coke ovens and steel plants have been stopped partially or wholly and rolling mills are reducing output.

Coupled with ihis movement there are appearing in increasing number notices of reduction in wages, ranging from 5 to 10 per cent., and it seems probable that this action will be quite general.

On the whole, the iron trade is in excellent shape. It has been working toward an expected relaxation ever since spring, and it is only the suddenness of developments in the money markets which has been somewhat disconcerting. There have been very few commitments, outside of coke and ore, beyond the current year and there is therefore no dangerous load anywhere suspended above the markets. The general decision to contract operations promptly removes the danger that stocks may pile up in the near future.

MONEY TO MOVE CROPS.

Treasury Department and New York Banks Will Send It to Northwest.

New York City.—Now that the monetary strain has been lessened locally, the New York banks began preparations Wednesday to ship all available currency to the northwest to aid the movement of crops. While there is no concerted action among the city's banikng institutions to meet the demands for currency now being made by banks in the crop country, the individual banks will send all funds that can possibly be spared for the purpose.

The Chase national bank and the First national bank have commenced to ship daily sums ranging from $25,000 to $50,000 to banks along the route of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads. James J. Hill held a conference here with officers of the Chase national bank and other institutions, at which he asked that the northwest be given all possible assistance to move the crops.

The bringing in of gold from abroad has already proved helpful in expediting the movement of currency to western wheat fields. The premium for currency became lower Wednesday and this enabled several banks to ship larger amounts of currency than would have otherwise proved possible to their correspondents west of the Mississippi river. The amount of the government deposits directed by Secretary Cortelyou to be placed in St. Paul and Minneapolis is $3,000,000, and this sum will be forwarded from Washington.

FIVE MEN KILLED.

Boiler of an Engine in an Iron Works at Steubenville, O., Exploded.

Steubenville, O. — By the explosion last night of a dinkey engine boiler at the La Belle iron works here, five men were killed, three perhaps fatally injured and a portion of the open hearth plant directly opposite the explosion was wrecked. The dead:

Harry Andrews, engineer, aged 22 years.
Charles Reed, aged 22, engineer.
William Smith, aged 40.
Daniel O'Brien, aged 30.
William Scott, aged 35.

The injured: William Carnahan. James Sanders. James Edwards. All the victims lived in this city.

Receivers for a Steel Company.

Buffalo, N. Y. — Judge Hazel on Wednesday appointed as receivers for the New York State Steel Co. Spencer Kellogg, George Urban and Adolph Rebadow. A statement was given out which says: "Owing to the severe stringency now existing in the business world it has been deemed best to have a temporary receiver appointed for the New York State Steel Co. The company is perfectly solvent." The company was organized by Spencer Kellogg three years ago. The total capital stock was $2,500,000. A large tract of land was secured and a rolling mill built and operated. Blast furnaces are now under construction.

Actor Hitchcock Appears in Court.

New York City.—Raymond Hitchcock, the actor who disappeared several days ago after he had been indicted on charges preferred by several young girls, appeared at the criminal court building Wednesday and went to the office of the district attorney. Hitchcock was arraigned upon only one of the six indictments against him, to which he pleaded not guilty. Bail was furnished. Hitchcock was paroled in custody of his counsel upon the other five indictments. Counsel for Hitchcock said the actor had not been out of New York since his disappearance.

Four Killed in a Collision.

Antonito, Col. — Four Japanese laborers were killed and several other Japanese and one white brakeman were injured in a collision Wednesday between a freight train and a work train on the Denver & Rio Grande railway 25 miles south of here.

A Distressing Accident.

Decatur, Ill. — Michael H. Godfrey, a young switchman, was killed here Wednesday by a Vandalia railway locomotive which his father was running. Young Godfrey's foot had caught in a split switch.

Balcom & Lloyd.

Backward Season

CLEARANCE SALE

"The best laid plans of wisest men aft gang estray" is an old saying, but it expresses our position this season exactly.

Never in our nine years of business in Emporium have we had as large and fine a line of Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Caps, Trunks, Bags, etc., etc., as we bought for this fall and winter.

The Backward Season Forces us to do one of two things, either carry over stock or sacrifice prices and sell it now. It being poor policy to carry stocks over we have decided to Waning Lumber Industry.

Milton O. Nelson, writing on "The Lumber Industry of America," in the Review of Reviews for November, says:

"A few American citizens are still living who were alive the days when the Indians and Ohio pioneers were cutting great clear-grained black walnut, white oak and hickory logs, piling them and burning them to ashes in order to get rid of them. Farm houses are still standing in the Ohio Valley whose tenoned frames are of black walnut, and whose roof boards are of wide clear lumber, such as is now sought for to be made into king's table tops. Black walnut lumber in American commerce to-day is little more than a memory, white oak in the finer finishing grades is worth half the price of mohogany, and the American vehicle industry is in distress for the lack of hickory. Even in sawmill cities of the present day the lath from the walls of wrecked houses is carefully cleaned and bundled for resale, while half decayed pine logs are sawed into merchantable lumber.

"Thus in the span of one life the American lumber industry has passed from surfeit to hunger. Such another span promises to carry us from hunger to starvation.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS.

Do Not Endanger Life When an Emporium Citizen Shows You the Cure.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backaches, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor, who allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, cure yourself now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in. Read this Emporium testimony.

Mrs. Frank Mundy, living on West Fourth street, Emporium, Pa., says: "Since using Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured from L. Taggart, the druggist, I am feeling ever so much better. My kidneys were very weak and I was obliged to rise many times during the night. I suffered with dull nagging backache and splitting headaches. Pains would dart through the small of my back, and at times my feet and hands would bloat, so that I was in constant misery. When I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills I decided to try them. I obtained great benefit from the use of this remedy, for they regulate the kidneys and drove out the pains and aches in my back and head. I cheerfully recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

Bulletin.

THE NEW UNION STATION AT WASHINGTON.

All the passenger trains of the Pennsylvania Railroad will enter and depart from the new Union Station at Washington on November 17, 1907, and on the same date the present station at Sixth and B Streets will be closed to traffic.

The date is singularly fitting. In 1807 both wings of the Capitol were completed, and now a century later a building even larger is opened for a great public utility. which did not exist at that time.

The railroad terminal facilities at Washington have been inadequate for years, particularly at inauguration periods and on the assemblage of other large gatherings at the Capitol. Their improvement was imperative and so it has come about that, by the combined effort of the railroads and the United States Government, one of the largest and unquestionably the handsomest railroad station in the world is now provided not only for the convenience of the citizens of the United States, but as a notable architectural addition to the great public buildings of the Capitol City. It is a monumental edifice and a worthy type of the future structures, which will make Washington the municipal beauty spot of the world.

The station including the Concourse is longer than the Capitol and nearly as wide. The waiting room is larger than the hall of the House of Representatives. The concourse, which is the train lobby, is longer than the interior of the Capitol building, if it were one continuous hall, and half as wide. It is the largest building ever constructed for a like purpose.

Within this great structure there is every convenience the traveler can desire, so grouped about the central hall as to serve the purpose of the best advantage.

The lofty arched entrances face a plaza as large as an ordinary city park, which will be laid out as a plaza and adorned with shubbery and fountains.

The trackage is sufficient for all demands upon it and as the entrance to and exit from the trains are separated, the confusion and jostling of hurrying crowds moving in opposite directions will be obviated.

The bigness of the station is impressive; its utilities obvious.

OUR SERIAL

The Princess Elopes

By HAROLD McGRATH

Author of

"The Man on the Box," "Hearts and Masks," Etc.

(Copyright, 1905, Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

SYNOPSIS.

Arthur Warrington, American consul to Barscheit, tells how reigning Grand Duke attempts to force his neice, Princess Hildegarde, to marry Prince Dopplekinn, an old widower. Warrington does not know the princess even by sight. While horseback riding in the country night overtakes him and he seeks accommodations in a dilapidated castle. Here he finds two women and an old man servant. One woman is Princess Hildegarde and the other a friend, Hon. Betty Moore, of England. They detain him to witness a mock marriage between the princess and a disgraced army officer, Steinbock, done for the purpose of foiling the grand duke. Steinbock attempts to kiss the princess and she is rescued by Warrington. Steinbock disappears for good. Max Scharfenstein, an old American friend of Warrington's reaches Barscheit. Warrington tells him of the princess. Scharfenstein shows Warrington a locket with a picture of a woman inside. It was on his neck when he, as a boy, was picked up and adopted by his foster father, whose name he was given. He believes it to be a picture of his mother. The grand duke announces to the princess that she is to marry Dopplekinn the following week.

CHAPTER VI.

The princess rose at dawn the following day. She routed out Hans, the head groom, and told him to saddle Artemis, the slim-limbed, seal-brown filly which an English nobleman had given her. Ten minutes later she was in the saddle, and the heaviness on her heart seemed to rise and vanish like the opal mists on the bosom of the motionless lake. A pale star blinked at her, and the day, flushed like the cheek of a waking infant, began drowsily to creep over the rolling mountains.

How silent all the city was! Only here and there above the chimneys rose a languid film of smoke. The gates of the park shut behind with a clang, and so for a time she was alone and free. She touched Artemis with a spur, and the filly broke into a canter toward the lake road. The girl's nostrils dilated. Every flower, the thousand resinous saps of the forest, the earth itself, yielded up a cool sweet perfume that was to the mind what a glass of wine is to the blood, exhilaration.

She would never marry Doppelkinn —never. That horrible Steinbock! She was glad, glad that she had struck him, again and again, across his lying eyes and evil mouth. She had believed that she knew the world; it was all yet a mystery; the older she grew the less she understood. Wasn't anybody good? Was everybody to be distrusted? Which way should she turn now? The world was beautiful enough; it was the people in it. Poor Betty! She had her troubles, too; but somehow she refused to confide them. She acted very much as if she were in love.

She would never marry Doppelkinn —never.

But how should she escape—how? On Wednesday night she would be given her quarterly allowance of a thousand crowns, and on Thursday she must act. . . . Yes, yes, that was it! How simple! She would slip over into Doppelkinn, where they never would think to search for her. She knew a place in which to hide. From Doppelkinn she would go straight to Dresden and seek the protection of her old governess, who would hide her till the duke came to his senses. If only she had an independent fortune, how she would snap her fingers at them all!

She was distracted by the sound of jangling steel. Artemis had cast a shoe. How annoying! It would take ten minutes to reach old Bauer's smithy, and ten minutes more to put on a shoe. She brought the filly down to a walk.

If only she were Betty, free to do what she pleased, to go and come at will! She wasn't born to be a princess; she wasn't common-place enough; she enjoyed life too well. Ah, if only she might live and act like those English cousins of hers with whom she went to school! They could ride man-fashion, hunt man-fashion, shoot, play cards and bet at the races man-fashion, and nobody threatened them with Doppelkinns. They might dance, too, till the sun came into the windows and the rouge on their faces cracked. But she! (I use the emphasis to illustrate the decided nods of her pretty head.) Why, every sweet had to be stolen!

Presently the smithy came into view, emerging from a cluster of poplars. She rode up to the doors, dismounted and entered. Old Bauer himself was at the bellows, and the weird blue light hissing up from the blown coals discovered another customer. She turned and met his frank glance of admiration. (If she hadn't turned! If his admiration hadn't been entirely frank!) Instantly she sent Bauer a warning glance which that old worthy seemed immediately to understand. The stranger was tall, well-made, handsome, with yellow hair, and eyes as blue as the sky is when the west wind blows.

He raised his cap, and the heart of the girl fluttered. Wherever had this seemly fellow come from?

"Good morning," said the stranger courteously. "I see that you have had the same misfortune as myself."

"You have lost a shoe? Rather annoying, when one doesn't want a single break in the going." She uttered the words carelessly, as if she wasn't at all interested.

The stranger stuffed his cap into a pocket.

She was glad that she had chosen the new saddle. The crest and coat of arms had not yet been burned upon the leather nor engraved upon the silver ornaments, and there was no blanket under the English saddle. There might be an adventure; one could not always tell. She must hide her identity. If the stranger knew that she belonged to the House of Barscheit, possibly he would be frightened and take to his heels.

But the Princess Hildegarde did not know that this stranger never took to his heels; he wasn't that kind. Princess or peasant, it would have been all the same to him. Only his tone might have lost half a key.

Bauer called to his assistant, and the girl stepped out into the road. The stranger followed, as she knew he would. It will be seen that she knew something of men, if only that they possess curiosity.

"What a beautiful place this is!" the stranger ventured, waving his hand toward the still lake and the silent, misty mountains.

"There is no place quite like it," she admitted. "You are a stranger in Barscheit?"—politely. He was young and certainly the best-looking man she had eye was roving. He became suspicious. She might be simple, and then again she mightn't. She was worth studying, anyhow.

"I was a cavalryman, with nothing to do but obey orders and, when ordered, fight. I am visiting the American consul here; he was a school-mate of mine."

"Ah! I thought I recognized the horse."

"You know him?"—quickly.

"Oh,"—casually,—"every one hereabout has seen the consul on his morning rides. He rides like a centaur, they say; but I have never seen a centaur."

The stranger laughed. She was charming.

"He ought to ride well; I taught him." But the gay smile which followed this statement robbed it of its air of conceit. "You see, I have ridden part of my life on the great plains of the west, and have mounted everything from a wild Indian pony to an English thoroughbred. My name is Max Scharfenstein, and I am here as a medical student, though in my own country I have the right to hang out a physician's shingle."

She drew aimless figures in the dust with her riding-crop. There was no sense in her giving any name. Probably they would never meet again. And yet—

"I am Hildegarde von—von Heideloff," giving her mother's name. He was too nice to frighten away.

The hesitance over the "von" did not strike his usually keen ear. He was too intent on noting the variant expressions on her exquisite face. It was a pity she was dark. What a figure, and how proudly the head rested upon the slender but firm white throat!

"I'm Hildegarde von—von Heideloff."

seen in a month of moons. If Doppelkinnn, now, were only more after this pattern!

"Yes, this is my first trip to Barscheit." He had a very engaging smile.

"You are from Vienna?"

"No."

"Ah, from Berlin. I was not quite sure of the accent."

"I am a German-American,"—frankly. "I have also spoken the language as if it were my own, which doubtless it is."

"America!" she cried, her interest genuinely aroused. "That is the country where every one does just as he pleases."

"Sometimes." (What beautiful teeth she had, white as skimmed milk!)

"They are free?"

"Nearly always."

"They tell me that women there are all queens."

"We are there, or here, always your humble servants."

He was evidently a gentleman; there was something in his bow that was courtly. "And do the women attend the theaters alone at night?"

"If they desire to."

"Tell me, does the daughter of the president have just as much liberty as her subjects?"

"Even more. Only, there are no subjects in America."

"No subjects? What do they call them, then?"

"Voters."

"And do the women vote?"

"Only at the women's clubs."

She did not quite get this; not that it was too subtle, rather that it was not within her comprehension.

"It is a big country?"

"Ever so big."

"Do you like it?"

"I love every inch of it. I have even fought for it."

"In the Spanish war?"—visibly excited.

"Yes."

"Were you a major or a colonel?"

"Neither; only a private."

"I thought every soldier there was either a colonel or a major."

He looked at her sharply, but her After all, black eyes, such as these were, might easily rival any blue eyes he had ever seen. (Which goes to prove that a man's ideals are not built as solidly as might be.)

"Do you speak English?" she asked abruptly in that tongue, with a full glance to note the effect.

"English is spoken to some extent in the United States," he answered gravely. He did not evince the least surprise at her fluency.

"Do you write to the humorous papers in your country?"

"Only to subscribe for them," said he.

And again they laughed; which was a very good sign that things were going forward tolerably well.

And then the miserable fellow of a smith had to come out and announce that the stranger's horse was ready.

"I'll warrant the shoe," said Bauer.

"You haven't lost any time," said Max, his regret evident to every one.

The girl smiled approvingly. She loved humor in a man, and this one with the yellow hair and blue eyes seemed to possess a fund of the dry sort. All this was very wrong, she knew, but she wasn't going to be the princess this morning; she was going to cast off the shell of artificiality, of etiquette.

"How much will this shoe cost me?" Max asked.

"Half a crown," said Bauer, with a sly glance at the girl to see how she would accept so exorbitant a sum. The princess frowned. "But sometimes," added Bauer hurriedly, "I do it for nothing."

"Bauer, your grandfather was a robber," the girl laughed. "Take heed that you do not follow in his footsteps."

"I am a poor man, your—mm—Fraulein," he stammered.

"Here's a crown," said Max, tossing a coin which was neatly caught by the grimy hand of the smith.

"Are you very rich?" asked the girl curiously.

"Why?" counter-questioned Max.

PRESCRIPTION WHICH ANYONE CAN EASILY MIX.

Said to Promptly Overcome Kidney and Bladder Afflictions—Shake Simple Ingredients Well in Bottle.

Mix the following by shaking well in a bottle, and take in teaspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. A prominent physician is the authority that these simple, harmless ingredients can be obtained at nominal cost from any druggist even in the smaller towns.

The mixture is said to cleanse and strengthen the clogged and inactive Kidneys, overcoming Backache, Bladder weakness and Urinary trouble of all kinds, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease.

Those who have tried this say it positively overcomes pain in the back, clears the urine of sediment and regulates urination, especially at night, curing even the worst forms of bladder weakness.

Every man or woman here who feels that the kidneys are not strong or acting in a healthy manner should mix this prescription at home and give it a trial, as it is said to do wonders for many persons.

The Scranton (Pa.) Times was first to print this remarkable prescription, in October, of 1906, since when all the leading newspapers of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburg and other cities have made many announcements of it to their readers.

Signs of Long Life.

"Bacon took a deep interest in longevity and its earmarks," said a physician, "and Bacon's signs of long life and of short life are as true to-day as they ever were.

"You won't live long, Bacon pointed out, if you have soft, fine hair, a fine skin, quick growth, large head, early corpulence, short neck, small mouth, brittle and separated teeth and fat ears.

"Your life, barring accidents, will be very lengthy if you have slow growth, coarse hair, a rough skin, deep wrinkles in the forehead, firm flesh, a large mouth, wide nostrils, strong teeth set close together, and a hard, gristly ear."—Minneapolis Journal.

She Did Not Fear Death.

An old lady on her seventy-third birthday once said, "I do not mind getting old, and I do not fear death, but I live in constant fear of paralysis."

"For some time I have been wanting to tell you of the great good your wonderful Sloan's Liniment is doing here," writes Mr. James F. Abernethy, of Rutherford College, N. C. "In fact, all your remedies are doing noble work, but your Liniment beats all. In my eight years' experience with medicine I find none to go ahead of it, having tried it in very many cases. I know of one young man, a brick-mason, who suffered from a partial, yes, almost complete, paralysis of one arm. I got him to use your Liniment, and now he can do as much work as ever, and he sings your praise every day. I get all to use it I possibly can and know there is great virtue in it. I have helped the sale of your noble remedies about here greatly, and expect to cause many more to buy them, as I know they can't be beat."

No Decoration Required.

It was Mr. Hobart's first experience with waffles, and he liked the taste of them. When he had been served twice, he called the waiter to him and spoke confidentially.

"I'm from Pokeville," he said, "and we're plain folks there; don't care much for style, but we know good food when we get it. I want another plateful o' those cakes, but you tell the cook she needn't stop to put that fancy printing on 'em; just send 'em along plain."—Youth's Companion.

A Prayer for Rain.

The minister was having Sunday dinner with one of his brother parishoners. Suddenly the 8-year-old daughter of the house spoke up.

"O, Dr. Still, will you please say the prayer for rain tonight, so it will pour tomorrow?" she urged.

"Why, dear?" asked the clergyman.

"Cause I have a dandy new umbrella and mackintosh," replied the eternal womanly.—Judge.

THE FINISHING TOUCH.

The Puritan fathers were steadfast. Infirmity of purpose they knew not, nor the meaning thereof.

"Since it is appointed to us," they remarked with grim determination, "to forge a New England conscience, we'll do the business right. We'll forge a New England conscience that will cause the world to sit up and take notice, saecula saeculorum, world without end."

The difficulty, as it presently developed, lay in making the affair elastic enough, without being too flabby.

"We don't propose to have it puncture the first time it goes up against high finance, or polite society, or municipal politics,' quoth they, and they were as good as their word. They went out and stole the Indian's land, and when he showed his spunk, they didn't do a thing to him, and behold, as soon as they had wrought these works, the New England conscience was complete.—Life.

He Didn't Care.

A boy was slouching along the street with his father's breakfast in a tin can, when another boy came up to him and gave the can a vigorous kick.

"Do you care about me kicking that can?" said the newcomer.

"No, I don't," replied the other boy.

"Do you now?" giving the can another kick.

"No, I don't," answered the latter.

"Do you now?" cried the infuriated young lad, giving the can such a kick that it knocked the bottom out.

"No I don't,' again replied he with the can. "My mother borrowed it from yours this morning!'

The girl smiled faintly.

"You always say such appropriate things, Dick," she murmured. "This is a chestnut tree."

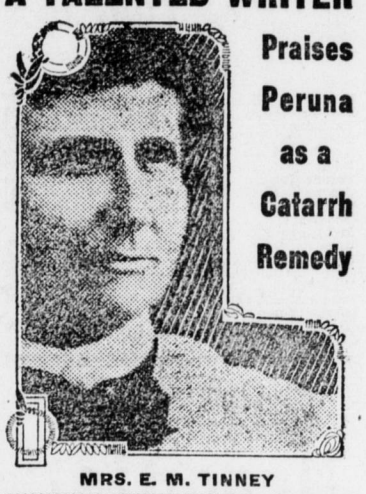
A TALENTED WRITER

Praises Peruna as a Catarrh Remedy



MRS. E. M. TINNEY

Mrs. E. M. Tinney, story writer, 325 E. Nueva St., San Antonio, Tex., writes:

"During 1901 I suffered form nasal catarrh, which various other remedies failed to relieve.

"Six bottles of Peruna, which I took, entirely cured me, the catarrh disappearing and never returning.

"I therefore cheerfully recommend Peruna to all similarly afflicted."

Mrs. Ellen Nagle, 414 4th street, Green Bay, Wis., writes:

"I have often heard Peruna praised and it is more widely known here than any other medicine, but I never knew what a splendid medicine it really was until a few weeks ago when I caught a bad cold which settled all over me.

"The doctor wanted to prescribe, but I told him I was going to try Peruna and sent for a bottle and tried it.

"I felt much better the next morning and within five days I had not a trace of any lameness or any cough.

"I consider it the finest cough remedy."

PERUNA TABLETS:—Some people prefer to take tablets, rather than to take medicine in a fluid form. Such people can obtain Peruna tablets, which represent the solid medicinal ingredients of Peruna.

To Err Is Human.

Robert Browning once found himself at a dinner, at a great English house, sitting next to a lady who was connected with the highest aristocracy. She was very graciously inclined, and did her utmost to make conversation.

"Are you not a poet?" she finally asked.

"Well," said Browning, "people are sometimes kind enough to say that I am."

"Oh, please don't mind my having mentioned it," the duchess hastened to say, with the kindest of smiles. "You know Byron and Tennyson and others were poets."

A Value.

"Nonsense," said the high financier, "we did not sell a worthless franchise."

"But such is current report," ventured the interviewer.

The high financier made a gesture of impatience. "Young man," he returned, severely, "if you got hold of any old franchise that you could unload for two millions, would you regard it as worthless?"

No reply being possible to this, none was made.

Time Sometimes Flies So.

"Mabel," asked the dear girl's mother, "what time did that young man leave last night?"

"Why," replied Mabel, "I believe it was nearly 11 o'clock."

"What? I am sure it was later than that," said the mother.

"How strange!" remarked Mabel, dreamily. "We both thought it couldn't possibly be that late."—The Catholic Standard and Times.

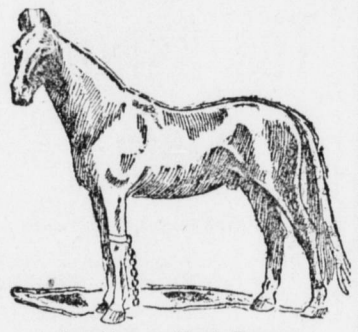
LIVE STOCK

FOR A HORSE HARD TO CATCH.

Fasten Short Bit of Chain to His Fore Leg Above Knee.

For a horse that is hard to catch, take a chain about one and one-half feet long, and fasten it with a strap to his front leg, just above the knee.



Breaking a Hard Runner.

The chain will hang down and will not bother the horse while he walks, but if he runs, it strikes his other leg, and he will be forced to stop. They don't run far before they stop and let you catch them.

SPECIALIZING IN STOCK.

Farmers Should Follow Lines In Which They Will Have Best Success.

This is fast becoming an age of specializing. The farm of a few years ago was supposed to produce about all that was consumed. A great many things were made then, too, that are bought now. The change has been coming on gradually, but now the disposition is general to let the man who is better fitted for doing or producing one thing follow his line, while we may follow another line, and the exchange is made through the regular channels of trade.

The stockmen are taking up specializing to a wonderful extent. A very few years ago the stockman had a few of all classes of stock, and each class represented some of all ages. To-day, we find more and more of the special herds. The cattleman sticks to a certain line, and if he raises for the market he likes to have the bunch all of an age and size. It is the same with every other line of livestock. After all that has been said of having a few of all kinds, then you will be sure of having some of the right kind, for stock does better to run all of an age and size, and is easier cared for.

A FEW HOG DON'TS.

Do the Don'ts If You Would Have Success in Raising Pigs.

Don't keep diseased hogs with the rest of the herd. Most diseases common to hogs are contagious, especially cholera.

Don't let your feed lot get foul. A hog as well as other animals does better when he has a clean eating and sleeping place.

Don't expect to raise thrifty pigs by feeding the sows nothing but corn. Plenty of slops are essential to the growth of the pigs.

Don't let your sows and pigs sleep at old straw ricks unless you want them to die with the cholera or some other disease.

Don't let your shoats run all over the farm. A few dollars spent in wire will save you much worry and keep your meadows and growing crops from injury.

Don't let your pigs root up the meadows and pastures. A few hog rings are cheaper than a lot of timothy and blue grass which would be destroyed.

Don't let your sows run together until farrowing time. Cold nights they will pile up together and may cause the loss of their pigs. It is best to separate them a month before.

Don't fail to give your hogs plenty of ashes and salt. If you have an old ash bank about the place, throw it into the pen and salt it good. The hogs will dispose of it to their advantage.

Don't keep a chicken-eating sow just because she raises large litters of pigs, says Farmers' Voice. She will soon eat her worth in chickens. Put her in the fattening pen and let her go on the market as soon as possible.

STOCK NOTES.

A badly-shod horse is one that will perform his work with difficulty.

The cow is a machine for converting food into milk, and the profits from her work are in proportion to her digestive and assimilative powers.

With an increasing demand for horses on the farms where they are raised there will be less horses to sell and consequently those sold will command a higher price. Keep on raising good draft colts.

The future brood sow should show every indication of being able to properly nourish her litter. This quality is evidenced by the development of ten or twelve well-formed teats. This is quite an important point.

Before building the barn or hog house sit down and calculate where it can be placed, and how planned to be the most convenient. The average farmer shortens his life a fourth by taking unnecessary steps around the barn and feed lots.

FATTENING HOGS.

Make Selections Early and Push the Feeding as Rapidly as Possible.

The fattening of hogs begins at the time you decide which will be the ones to go. If they are well started from birth, with plenty of feed necessary for the development of bone and muscle building, then the fattening process may be reserved until the last eight weeks before selling. After weaning they should be allowed milk with middlings, and if confined, a cutting of germ clover or alfalfa while it may be had. One of the family who lives near a brewery has found that warm separated milk mixed with malt is an excellent feed for the pigs during the growing season, and no grain is necessary until ready to finish for the market. With me, milk and middlings and occasionally a little bran mixed with green alfalfa has formed the ration.

I keep salt and ashes before them, as well as a box of charcoal. During the winter when no green food is to be had, says a writer in Orange Judd Farmer, I feed once a day some silage, just what they will eat up clean, and they seem to relish it very much. The value of alfalfa hay with the corn feed the last six weeks is not fully known, yet it will cause a gain of one and one-half pounds a day, which is more than any other ration I have ever known. The Nebraska experiment station has made some very interesting experiments along this line, with remarkable results, and declares in favor of alfalfa hay with corn as the most economical and profitable. Of course, I have no other hay, but know the hogs eat is greedily, either dry or green, and it keeps them in perfect condition.

SHEEP IN THE ORCHARD.

One Farmer Who Thinks They Give Him Good Crops of Apples.

"I think one great reason why my orchard has done so well is because I have let my sheep run in it a good deal."

The old man that said this always has the best fruit and the most of it of any man in his neighborhood. Many years when his neighbors would almost fail of having any fruit, his orchard would have a plentiful supply. Take it this year, for example. Throughout the entire county there is a marked scarcity of apples. But this man's trees are well loaded. He will have a little fortune from his fruit.

There is a great deal of sense in his belief that the sheep have done his orchard good, writes E. L. Vincent in Farmers' Review. All through the spring and fall after the apples are out of the way, he pastures the sheep in the orchard. They pick up any small or wormy fruit that may have been left on the ground. They leave the richest kind of manure all over the earth. They keep the weeds down and altogether cultivate the orchard as it could not otherwise be.

We fail, fellow farmers, by not giving our orchards better treatment. They are starving. Take many orchards and you will see great patches of moss on the ground. The branches are many of them dead or dying. The earth is covered with grass or weeds that provide the best possible harbor for enemies of the trees. How can we expect to get much fruit? The wonder is that we get as much as we do.

Sheep like to run under trees. The orchard is almost the ideal place for them.

Hints for the Shepherd.

Sheep will build up any farm. Give them plenty of pure water and never permit them to eat snow instead. Keep the troughs clean. Keep salt before them at all times. Trim the feet spring and fall. Shelter from cold storms; you cannot starve a profit out of a flock. Muddy yards cause sore feet. Feed at a regular time.

Pigs with Cough.

It is not generally known that pigs are afflicted with a spasmodic cough which greatly resembles whooping cough in children. This trouble usually runs its course in a few weeks. A little pine tar placed well down the throat or a teaspoonful of tincture of asafoetida given in a little milk will assist in relieving the trouble.

The Bright Firstborn.

They were discussing the law of entail—the English law bequeathing the bulk of the family property to the eldest son.

"There is 50 per cent. of logic in that law," said a physician, "and if the family property went to the firstborn, whether son or daughter, the law would contain 100 per cent. of logic. For the first born child is practically always the best—best in brain, in build, in beauty, in everything.

"Why is this so? It is because married people love one another more profoundly at the beginning than afterward; for love, like all things, grows old, grows weak, often dies.

"Mrs. Craigie—John Oliver Hobbes—was a first born child. So was Marie Corelli. So was Richard Mansfield. So were Joseph Chamberlain, Lord Kitchener, Max Muller, Henry Irving, George Meredith.

"Look back into the past, and we see again the prominence of the firstborn, among them Mohammed, Confucius, Raphael, Milton, Dante, Goethe, Byron, Shelly and Heine."

Mansfield's Rebuke.

A group of theatrical men were talking in New York about the late Richard Mansfield.

"Mr. Mansfield," said one, was a delightful humoroist, a splendid raconteur in society, but at the same time he had a certain proper and becoming sense of his own dignity, and it never paid to be unduly familiar with him.

"He was, as we all know, rather bald. He resented, from barbers, or friends, any allusion to his baldness.

"Well, one night at a party, a man came up behind this great artist, staggered him with a violent slap on the back, and exclaimed in a loud, jovial, familiar voice:

"'Hello, Dick. How are you? Every time I see you, you get balder and balder.'

Mansfield drew himself up. He sneered at the other.

"'Hello,' he said. 'I don't know who you are, but every time I see you you get ruder and ruder.'"

HER "BEST FRIEND."

A Woman Thus Speaks of Postum.

We usually consider our best friends those who treat us best.

Some persons think coffee a real friend, but watch it carefully awhile and observe that it is one of the meanest of all enemies for it stabs one while professing friendship.

Coffee contains a poisonous drug—caffeine—which injures the delicate nervous system and frequently sets up disease in one or more organs of the body, if its use is persisted in.

"I had heart palpitation and nervousness for four years and the doctor told me the trouble was caused by coffee. He advised me to leave it off, but I thought I could not," writes a Wis. lady.

"On the advice of a friend I tried Postum Food Coffee and it so satisfied me that I did not care for coffee after a few days' trial of Postum.

"As weeks went by and I continued to use Postum my weight increased from 98 to 118 pounds, and the heart trouble left me. I have used it a year now, and am stronger than I ever was. I can hustle up stairs without any heart palpitation, and I am cured of nervousness.

"My children are very fond of Postum and it agrees with them. My sister liked it when she drank it at my house, but not when she made it at her own home. Now she has learned to make it right, boil it according to directions, and has become very fond of it. You may use my name if you wish, as I am not ashamed of praising my best friend—Postum."

JUST WHAT HE WANTED.

Surely Here Were Musical Tastes Enough to Suit Anybody.

A gentleman of the most cultivated musical tastes, wishing to change his residence, advertised for rooms in a private family "fond of music." The next mail brought him the following reply:

"Dear Sir: I think we could accommodate you with rooms, and as for music one of my daughters plays the parlor organ and gittar; another one plays the accordeon and banjo; I play the cornet and fiddle; by wife plays the harmonica and my son the flute. We all sing and if you are good at tenner singing you would fit right in when we get to singing gospel hims evenings, for none of us sings tenner. Or if you plays the base vial we have one right here in the house. If you want music as well as rooms and board we could accommodate you and there would be no extra charge for it. Lippincott's.

Eczema, Heat Rash, and Scalp Affections Afflict Different Members, But Cuticura Cures Them.

"My wife had eczema for five or six years. It was on her face and would come and go. We thought we would give the Cuticura Remedies a trial. We did so and she has never had a sign of eczema for four years. I myself used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment some time ago for falling hair. I now have a very heavy head of hair. We used Cuticura Remedies for our baby, who was nearly bald when young. She has very nice hair now. She is very fleshy, and we had so much trouble with heat that we would bathe her with Cuticura Soap and then apply Cuticura Ointment, it would dry the heat up so much quicker than anything else. "Yes," replied the parent.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

Knew What Was Coming.

Wife—Well, I declare. Here's an old school friend of mine who has just made a fortune.

Husband—All right, my dear. Go ahead. Tell me that you might have married him.

Model for Rest of the Force.

While Oil City cannot, perhaps, boast of being a strictly cold-water town, she can, we believe, lay claim to having among her residents the champion temperance man of the state, if not of the entire country. Not only has he never drank any kind of spiritous or malt liquors, but he has never allowed any tea, coffee, soup or any kind of milk to pass his lips since he was a child. He is a colored man, was born in slavery, and because his father frequently drank more whisky than was good for him, he resolved when a boy to never drink anything but water. And he has religiously kept the resolution. He is a member of the Oil City police force, and his name is Major Franklin.—Oil City (Pa.) Blizzard.

What He Learned.

Proud Father—Welcome back to the old farm, my boy. So you got through college all right?

Farmer's Son—Yes, father.

P. F.—Ye know, I told ye to study up chemistry and things, so you'd know best what to do with different kinds of land. What do you think of that flat medder there, for instance?

F. S.—Cracky, what a place for a ball game!

Finance.

"Sammy," said a Germantown mother recently to her youngest-born, "When you divided those seven pieces of candy with your brother did you give him four?"

"No, ma'am," replied Sammy, "I knew they wouldn't come out even, so I ate one before I began to divide."—Harper's Weekly.

New and Liberal Homestead Regulations in

WESTERN CANADA

New Districts Now Opened for Settlement

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Some of the choicest lands in the grain growing belts of Saskatchewan and Alberta have recently been opened for settlement under the Revised Homestead Regulations of Canada. Thousands of homesteads of 160 acres each are now available. The new regulations make it possible for entry to be made by proxy, the opportunity that many in the United States have been waiting for. Any member of a family may make entry for any other member of the family, who may be entitled to make entry for himself or herself. Entry may now be made before the Agent or Sub-Agent of the District by proxy, (on certain conditions) by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

"Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-West Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person the sole head of a family, or male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less."

The fee in each case will be $10.00. Churches, schools and markets convenient. Healthy climate, splendid crops and good laws. Grain-growing and cattle raising principal industries.

KIDNEY TROUBLES

The kidneys are essential organs for keeping the body free from impurities. If they should fail to work death would ensue in very short time.

Inflammation or irritation caused by some feminine derangement may spread to some extent to the Kidneys and affect them, The cause can be so far removed by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that the trouble will disappear.

When a woman is troubled with pain or weight in loins, backache, swelling of the limbs or feet, swelling under the eyes, an uneasy, tired feeling in the region of the kidneys, she should lose no time in commencing treatment with

MISS KATE A. HEARN

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

It may be the means of saving her life. Read what this medicine did for Kate A. Hearn, 520 West 47th Street, New York, who writes:—

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"I owe a debt of gratitude to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for it has saved my life. I suffered with Kidney trouble, irregularities and painful periods, and my blood was fast turning to water. I used your medicine for some time and it has made me strong and well."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from native roots and herbs cures Female Complaints, such as Falling and Displacements, and Organic Diseases. Dissolves and expels Tumors at an early stage. It strengthens and tones the Stomach. Cures Headache, General Debility and invigorates the whole system. For derangement of the Kidneys in either sex Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent.

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female illness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for advice. It is free.

FROM OUR REPORTERS.

SINNAMAHONING.

The Liars Club met in regular session in their hall Monday evening, at 1:32, when the crowing cocks awakened Pap Blodget from his first sleep. The club discussed the whopper about the bear killing that bear as published last Sunday. We are trying to find the author of the yarn. He would make a shining light in our club and would be accepted as a full member, with all the degrees free of charge. Jim Mead saw the track of the bear and took up a sapling. The bear was so frightened that it was white in the face. There were more truths told in ten minutes than the secretary could record in six days. Frank is learning fast and in one week more can tell as big a truth story as any member. Pap Blodget and Batchelder are debarred from practice.

FIDE.

Well, election is over and the G. O. P. came out ahead. There were many plit tickets in Grove.

J. R. Batchelder took his annual vacation of two weeks and captured a bear, a wildcat, four coons and quite a bit of small game.

All of the mighty hunters are getting ready to slay the big bucks when the season comes in.

Ralph Summerson has moved to Jamestown, N. Y.

John Huff and family moved to St. Marys, Wednesday.

John Berfield and wife were visitors Wednesday.

E. M. C. Peasley of Pottersdale was a visitor here last week.

A. H. Shafer of Ridgway was a visitor here Wednesday. He reports the fever patients all improving.

Mrs. Geo. Chace and daughter Florence are visiting at Picture Rocks.

Nellie Gray strayed into town Tuesday enroute for Galeton, and had quite a time getting her ticket in time to make the train.

The bear story in last Sunday's Grit has all the young and old hunters on their metal and now you may look for something doing in this line.

A. B. Penrith and son started after bruin one day last week and located one ni Wykoff Run that would weigh about 900 lbs., but they did not bring it in.

J. R. Batchelder tried John Jordan's bait, onions and cabbage and peanut butter and caught a muskrat. He says the bait is all right.

Four small boys got the bear fever last Saturday and started after bruin with two air gune and two bows and arrows and came in contact with a wildcat, and took to their legs for home with hair standing straight up.

G. L. Barclay is home from Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. P. H. Rich of Wharton was a visitor here Monday.

Frank Wolf met three deer Monday, an old doe and two fawns, within sight of town. They feel safe this fall.

Pop Blodget and Jim Batchelder are going after a big catamount in Pepper Hill and they will then have their pictures taken with their game.

A party of hunters from Harrisburg opened camp on Monday. They are going to be on time.

DEBSE.

He Fought at Gettysburg.

David Parker, of Fayett, N. Y., who lost a foot at Gettysburg, writes: Electric Bitters have done me more good than any medicine I ever took. For several years I had stomach trouble, and paid out much money for medicine for little purpose, until I began taking Electric Bitters. I would not take $500 for what they have done for me." Grand tonic for the aged and for female weaknesses. Great altrative and body builder; cure for lame back and weak kidneys. Guaranteed by All Druggist. 50.

Investigating committees are fit candidates for the Lime Kiln club.

The Postmaster of Gasconade, Mo.: Danial A. Bugh, says of DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills, "I am doing so well, and improving so fast in health, that I cannot say too much for your Kidney and Bladder Pills. I feel like a new man. DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills are sold by R. C. Dodson.

Mrs. Emmalene Summerson is visiting relatives at First Fork.

A. W. Smith has accepted a position at Dents Run.

The pie social held at the residence of Mrs. A. F. Nelson last Friday evening was a success both socially and financially and in view of the pleasant time every one had, it has been decided to hold a box social at Mrs. Nelson's on Friday evenidg, Nov. 22nd. As the proceeds will go towards securing books for the school library it is hoped that all who possibly can attend will do so and help the good work along. Everybody come and bring your friends.

Hiram S. Getchell, the popular telegrapher at Huntley Tower, has accepted the agency from the American Woolen Mills Co., of Chicago, to handle their clothing. Any one wishing a fine tailor made suit or a nice evercoat will do well to call on him. Give him an order.

John Jordan has secured six fine "coons" this week but no bears as yet but says it is only a question of time until "Br'er" Bruin will yield to the perfumes of Levie's onions.

As first assistant tail sawyer Elmer Hill was digging a post hole at the Big Run saw mill he came upon a nest of copperhead snakes who had made their winter quarters under a rock. The snakes were frozen and the mill boys are using them for canes.

B. J. Collins is making extensive improvements on his residence, what was formerly the Huntley property.

Charles Taylor is the champion checker player of the eighth ward, having beaten William John and W. R. Smith to a stand still in six different games. However he has not tried Levi Smith yet. Wait a while.

Harvy Mason who has been troubled with grip is on the gain.

J. F. S.

When the Stomach, Heart or Kidney nerves get weak, then these organs always fail. Don't drug the Stomach or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is simply a makeshift. Get a prescription known to the druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. The Restorative is prepared expressly for these weak inside nerves. Strengthen these nerves and build them up with Dr. Shoop's Restorative—tablets or liquid—and see how quickly help will come. Free sample test sent on request by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. Your health is surely worth this simple test. Sold by all dealers.

Don't worry about your kidneys when you can obtain a 30 days treatment of Pineuels for $1.00. These little globules bring relief in the first dose. Backache, Lumbago and Rheumatism yield quickly. If not satisfied your money refunded. This is a fair offer, you can't lose. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

Constable Cyrus Lupro made an official trip to Driftwood, Tuesday.

D. C. Linfinger is now waiting on his telephone wire, otherwise the telephone line which he is erecting is nearly completed. Dido is a hustler.

G. L. Page truant officer, made an official trip to Driftwood, Tuesday morning.

Bookkeepers are in demand in Cameron, after church hours, which was plainly seen here Sunday. For information ask some of our young town ladies.

Quite a number of our young ladies intended to give John Schwab a surprise party on his arrival in town Friday evening, and were dressed in the latest style, but it proved a surprise on themselves when he arrived, as they all took their sudden departure due the arrival of Mr. Schwab with company which was unexpected. Girls you should have placed guards to watch the situation. Wonder why?

A number of our young sports participated in a coon hunt Saturday night, but owing to the scarcity of this kind of game and the quanity of creek water they inbibed, their success was not as expected. Ed. says Jack could not shoot straight and Jack says Ed had too much creek water, so don't know who is to blame, but they returned empty handed. Who is to blame is the question?
